THE NOTORIOUS ELSIE REY-NOLDS AGAIN SHOWN UP.

Swindling Tricks by Which She Dupes Credulous Victims Laid

Francisco, she had a great many followers who firmly believed that she could bring their departed friends back to this life, but after the Examiner proved beyond a doubt that she was a fraud of the first magnitude, her followers left her, and she took up her abode in this city, where she rented a house and once more her so-called materializing seances were in full blast. She found a number of dupes and the golden shekels poured into her bottomless pocket at the rate of from $20 to $50 a night. Her wonderful tricks were the talk of the city, and people who were noted for their good common horse-sense, fell down and almost worshiped this gigantic female fraud. Of course there are a great many people in Los Angeles who have never attended a seance, and for the benefit of such it might not be out of place to give a brief description of the performance. In the first place the medium gives out that she is under the control of some spirit who assists the medium to materialize the departed friends of certain persons who have friends in the circle. The medium works under the influence of this spirit, and goes off in a deep sleep when she wants the spirits to work. As soon as she gets a few bellevers about her she makes a cabinet in one corner of the room by stretching cloth from the ceiling to the fioor. This makes a little room about 7x7 in one corner of the room. The lights are turned down until the whole room is almost in total darkness. The medium takes her seat near the cabinet, where the curtains are parted, and, after, where the curtains are parted, and, after an old Methodist hymn is sung by the audience, the dim outline of a white figure is seen to emerge from the cabinet and the medium is seen to gradually slide into the cabinet, chair and all. You must remember the walls of the cabinet have been closely examined by the audience, who find neither door nor can they find any place through which a living human being could enter the cabinet. The white thing which takes the medium into the cabinet could not enter t completely surround the cabinet, and they are all seated in chairs with hands closely clasped. Even the strongest minds in the audience are led to believe that they have seen a real ghost, and of course the weak ones are thoroughly convinced that their dead friends are really in the room. As soon as Mrs. Reynolds is drawn into the cabinet, the voice of a child, apparantly 5 or 6 years old, is heard in the elothroom. "Is zot yo, Mister Jones." Says the spirit control. "Tse yield to see yo tonight. I seed yo on e street today making mashes. Yo grandmother is here to talk to yo, Mister Jones." And a full-grown spirit glides out, and if poor Jones is a weak fellow, without any mind matter to spare, he is allowed to go up and speak to his departed grandmother, who whispers in his ear such nonsense as:

grandmotner, who whispers in his can solve nonsense as:
"I'm glad to see you, my son. I have just come from the other side, where I spend a very happy time. I am with you in spirit all the time." And Jones falls back to his seat, after kissing his departed relation. The kid begins to chatter once relation. The kid begins to change the more.

"Ise mighty glad da aint any of dem awful reporters here to scare my medium. I don't like reporters, does yo. Mr. Groff."

"You dry up, Effie, you talk too much," growls the volee of a man in the cabinet, and for a few minutes Mr. Gruff and Effie have a regular quarrel. After they get through, two figures clad in white from head to foot glide out of the cabinet and dance around in front of the cabinet. Almost every one in the audience who is known to be a helf-way heliever. In spiritualism rethrough, two figures clad in white from head to foot glide out of the cabinet and dance around in front of the cabinet and dance every one in the audience who is known to be a half-way believer in spiritualism receives a message from the dead, and many of them are allowed to talk to the spirits and even embrace them. The writer has even seen an old grandmother rise to her tottering feet and hobble within a few lines of the cabinet after she had been made to believe that her dead son was there and wished to talk to her. The poor old creature would return to her seat feeling perfectly happy in the belief that she had just pressed her withered arms about the being that she fondled so affectionately years ago. For this performance each male member of the circle is charged the sum of $1, and each lady $0 cents; and it is a mighty mean man who will not give up a dollar for the privilege of speaking to a dear relation who has been dead a number of years. But, enough. The exposure spoken of above, took place night before last at the home of a well-known attache of a prominent bank who lives on Flower street. The gentleman is anxious to have his name suppressed for the reason that several members of his fanily were beginning to have faith in the Reynolds woman, and they were so badly shocked when he pulled the veil from the woman's thetery that he does not wish to humiliate them further. It was for this reason, that he decided to expose the woman and the privilege of the reason that she can be the properly passed for the reason that she can be the properly passed for the reason that he decided to expose the work outside the fair of the privilege of the

enough not to have the two prested for obtaining money under false tenses. She begged that the matter be I from the press; but the gentleman gives facts publicity, in the probably vain that they may open the eyes of some. The productions simpletons, from Laon

The Gathering at Park Congrega-tional Church Last Evening. At the Park Congregational Church last evening Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Brainerd tendered a reseption to the friends and mem-bers of the church, the occasion being the thirty-first birth day anniversary of Mr. Brainerd. The church, which has very rec tastily finished inside, was well-lighted and well-filled by the numerous friends of the pastor and his wife, who had resp the invitation issued. Mrs. Hou musical artiste of finished education, who arrived a short time since in this country, redered some instrumental selections. Rev. J. H. Phillips, E. R. Brainerd and Mr. J. M. Davies, favored the company with vocal solos, which were cordially received. Miss Dolly O'Bleness gave a rectificion, and Messrs. C. H. Heisler, J. H. Phillips, C. E. Day and others made remarks appropriate to the occasion.

Refreshments were served during the evening, and social converse completed a pleasant evening. Rev. and Mrs. Brainerd have been with the church only a few months, but in that time have made many warm friends and largely increased the attendance upon divine services. musical artiste of finished ed

Officer Patterson happened along about that time and placed the fellow under arrest. When they got to the police station the bundle was found to contain a lot of dirty old towels, which looked as if they belonged to some hotel or boarding-house. The matter will be investigated today by Justice Austin.

Pockets Full of Jingling Coin to Capture Democratic Votes-How It Was Used - Officer Manuon's

The centest opened up yesterday moraing in quite a lively manner. Several witnesses gave such pointed evidence on the subject of bought votes as must make the Democratic managers squirm—If they ever do squirm. The witnesses were subject to a more than usually severe cross-examination, but without weakening their testimony. Officer Mannen gave his evidence in such a downright upright manner that may one could see that he proposed to teil "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," for when severely cross-questioned his reply would be, "I know what I have stated," no more and no less.

The first witness was

GEORGE MANNON.

Sworn: I live on Castelar street. I have lived about fourteen or fifteen years in the United States. The man that I came with from Mexico can tell better than I can. My name was put upon the register of voters by R. Dominguez. I don't know when. I only know he took me to the office, and I told him, "I cannot read or write, and know nothing about this." I don't know the exact time—I am only in this world because Jesus put me here. I voted at the election last November. A. Bilderrain asked me to vote. He took me up there in a wagon. When I returned home he said, "Here, take $2, so you will not lose your time." I came from Mexico. I was not born in Arizona. I was born at Guadalajara Laguna Chapana [the shorthand reporter throws down his pen in despair]. I never took out naturalization papers.

Cross-examined: I believe it was about twelve years ago that I was registered. Dominguez told me to say! was born in Arizona, and I said so. I did not know it was wrong. At the next election I voted the Republican ticket. I have always been a Republican. I voted at the last election the ticket Bilderrain gave me.

Re-direct: I was put in the jail wrong-fully. It was that a stove had been stolen, but another man did it. I know how to live without stealing. It was the last year that I registered last.

VICENTE ACUNA VICENTE RODRIGUEZ worn: I live on Castelar street. I have worn: I have lived in Los Angeles about twenty years. I voted at the election on November 2d of last year. I voted the Democratic ticket. I was not paid for it. I am a citizen. I do not recollect when. I was Li years old when I came here. I have taken out naturalization papers in San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, and here.

MANUEL LASTRA sworn: I reside in Los Angeles. Was here in November last and voted at the election in November last and voted at the election held here in that month. Voted the Democratic ticket. Tomaso Botello gave me the ticket. I don't know whether he was a candidate or not. I received $2 for voting that ticket from him. He deceived me. I thought it was a Republican ticket.

Cross-examined: I would not have voted the Republican ticket for money. He offered me the $2 to vote the ticket he gave me. I knew about a month ago that it was a Democratic ticket. The boys said so. I did not know when I voted it whether it was a Republican or Democratic ticket. I don't know who told me.

Re-direct: I have known T. Botello since I was born. He was a candidate for Constable on the Democratic ticket.

Re-cross: I know he was a candidate, for all the people said so. I did not knowhether he was a Democrat or Republica when he give me the tickst.

O. H. HASKINS

SWOTH: I reside in Los Angeles, and was a police officer last November, and on election day was at the depot nearly all day. I noticed irregularities there and arrested three parties that day. One for voting illegally; one for selling his vote; one for buying votes. They were let out on ball, the cases taken to the Superior Court, and I don't know what became of them. I saw Bilderrain with money there are him pay it to some men. Saw parties there who would not go into line until they had seen Bilderrain, and some came out of line to see him before they voted.

Cross-examined: McGovern was one man exceeded its was for illegal voting. Darry him before they voted.

Cross-examined: McGovern was one man arrested. It was for illegal voting. Darcy said that he had voted before. When I arrest a party on my own motion, I see to prosecuting him, but when I arrest him on request ot some one else, I let him attend to the case. In this case Darcy saked me to arrest these men. It was a Democratic worker who paid the money to the man I arrested. Young Tyler said he saw him do it. I know he was a Democratic worker, because I heard him ask men to vote that ticket. I saw Republican workers there. Both sides were energetic in getting voters.

AT BALLONA HARBOR.

Large Consignments of Lumber Ar-riving and to Arrive.

The vessels Gem and Merchant have ar-rived off Ballona, and the Gem was to be brought into the harbor yesterday. These vessels bring from 300,000 to 400,000 feet of timbers each, for the bulkheads and docks in bers each, for the bulkheads and docks in course of construction. The tugboat or dered by the company, for use in towing vessels into the harbor, is expected to arrive Sunday. A consignment of 2,000,000 feet of lumber, to be placed on sale for the building up of the new town, will shortly be down, and the Jeremiah Thompson will be the next, with 600,000 feet inore of wharfing. To say that Baliona is pushing right along about hits the mark.

A Short Memory.

Margarita Granillo, the Indian prostitute tomorrow for killing her lover, Andreas
Martinez, was a witness Thursday in the Martinez, was a witness Thursday in the case of a paisano named Chappo, on trial in the Superior Court for assault to murder. Margarita was an eye-witness to the crime, and testified fully and freely at the preliminary examination. Yesterday, however, she didn't know anything about it; and stranger still, swore positively that she didn't remember having ever testified a word about the case.

ARBOR DAY

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH BRN CALIFORNIA.

President Bovard had the matter in charge. Short speeches were made by Rev. A. M. Hough, Rev. T. E. Robinson, Rev. Mr. Cherrington and Rev. W. A. Knighten, after which the company adjourned to the campus to plant the trees. Rev. A. M. Hough presented a very fine specimen of the sage palm (Cycos Revoluta). This is a very rare variety, and is now almost extinct. Rev. Edward Thomson, vice president of the University, presented one of the Sequoia Gigantea, for which this coast is famous.

The class of '87 gave a choice specimen, with an appropriate speech delivered by Frank Sigler, to which President Bovard responded. The Athena Society, composed of ladies, and the Aristotelian Society also made donations. Nurserymen, who have inspected the collection of trees given, say that it is the choicest in Southern Callfornia.

Quite a number of frees were not set, as the grounds were not fully prepared. Any friends who desire to make any donations may do so at any time in the near future, and thus be the means of beautifying the campus and leaving a pleasant memorial.

The Aristotelian Literary Society, which has a fine large hall in the southeastern corner of the University building, has just finished furnishing it with desks, carpet, chairs and a 400-candle-power lamp. The room is 50x57, feet, with a dressing-room and library-room attached. Last evening a large audience gathered to listen to the formal dedicatory exercises of the hall. The following programme was well readered and received with many marks of appreciation by those present:

MELROSE!

Come and visit this latest candidate for public favor. It is "FAIR MELROSE," immediately adjoining the city on the west, and will stand inspection by daylight as well as by moonlight. The land is of the finest quality, the water abundant and already piped through the tract. Also an abundance of pure soft water within 15 ft. of the surface. The air, fresh from the ocean, is as the breath of spring. The lots are large, streets wide and straight. The dummy line of railroad is being constructed through the tract. Lots, 60 ft. front, from $200 to $325. The property is good scenarity for the price, so the terms will be easy. The first 50 lots sold will be sold for one-fourth eash, balance in 6, 12 and 18 months. Interest at 8 per cent. per annum. A map of the tract and a certificate of title given with every lot. Now, don't delay, but come at once, for first come first served. Free carriage to the grounds. Call on or address,

The chairman then introduced Gen. J. R. Brierly, who desired to tell about the doings of the last Legislature. Superintendent Holt expressed the hope that all who had the welfare of the schools at heart would see that Gen. Brierly is returned to the next Legislature. Gen. Brierly explained what the last Legislature did for the public schools. The salary of the Deputy Superintendent was made the same as that of other seputies. An appropriation of $50,000 was rade for a normal school, which the Normal School Trustees have decided to locate at the local independent boards of trustees were obtained for all the normal schools. For the relief of the schools of Los Angeles, the best that could be done was to make general provision for cities to levy bonds for public improvement. Our City Council should come to the point at once and furnish suitable buildings. Provision has been made for a grammar school course in all schools by a special tax. The manner of raising this tax is somewhat in doubt. Intend of taking office on the first Saturday in July, trustees will now take office on the irst day of July.

COMMENTING on the wheat corner in San Francisco, the San Diego Sun says: San Francisco, the San Diego Sun says:

"Some States have laws fer the punishment of these speculators on the 'corner' plan. We do not know whether the State of California has such a law or not, but, if she has not, she ought to have. The creation of a corner in any of the necessaries of life just as much a crime as is highway robbery. Morally, the odds are in favor of the highwayman, for his operations are necessarily on a small scale, while the speculator in corners robs by wholesale from those who can least afford to suffer losses."

In another column will be found the resolutions passed by the Board of Health, warmly thanking and complimenting Dr. M. Hagan, City Health Officer, for his effective management of the smallpox while it was here. The endation is well-deserved. Dr. Hagan brought to the ticklish and critical work many years of experience with such diseases where they have been worst, a thorough medical education, solid horse sense and a heap of dead earnest. He went in to win. and he won; and that the city escaped a visitation as severe as the in for well-deserved commendation.

Under the stimulus of slate-write Under the stimulus of slate-writing tests and materializing seances, an unusual fervor of interest in that peculiar doctrine or hallucination called spiritualism seems to have obtained in Los Angeles. We believe in the broadest and most liberal allowances for religious belief; we would not taboo any form of worship because it is new, peculiar or unpopular; we would not inhibit any supposably sacred rites, observances or manifestations so long as they do not transgress the laws. But it seems to us that enough out-andout swindling is perpetrated in the guise of spiritualistic manifestations to warrant the punishment of those who guise of spiritualistic manifestations to warrant the punishment of those who practice it for obtaining money under false pretenses. For example, a weman who is known as a chariatan of the worst type—who has been exposed in 8an Francisco, held up to ridicule and fairly driven from the place, comes to Los Angeles, where money and fools are plenty, and announces herself as a materializing medium. Her methods are of the most transparent character. Possessing some ventri loquial powers and lingual accomplish ments, she represents to a score of people assembled in a semi-lighted noom the spirits of some dear departed nobodies who come back from the other shore. Sometimes she materializes and sometimes she does not, and for the lightning changes required in her several appearances, she has a cabinet in which to retire. Her most popular appearance is in the guise of a sweet. simple, naughty, laughing, jesting little girl. By arranging herself in appropriate toggery, walking on her kne between the open curtains, and pitching her voice in a youthful treble, she does this character very well, and never fails to bring down the house. As a "lace girl," an "Indian spirit," and several other fanciful character delineations," she is quite successful. Her supposable revelations from the spirit world are mostly incon sequential chatter, interspersed with coarse jests and ribald songs. And yet people pay money to witness this spectacle, and some go night after night, and possibly a few think they are thus communing with the spirits of friends that are dead. Surely there is no limit to the blind credulity of human

It is something of a satisfaction to know that the woman who has thus been brazenly practicing on the curiosity and superstition of the people of Los Angeles for months past was subjected to an ignominious exposure night before last. a full account of which appears in our local columns today. At the earnest request of the gentleman who effected the exposure we refrain from giving his name, or the names of other respectable people present at the so-called seance, but there are abundant witnesses to prove that the fraud was

A handy little electric light carried on the shirt-front of the gentleman who planned the exposure, and ignited by the pressing of a wire in his pocket, revealed the identity of the "lace spirit" while she was in the very midst of her materialization. Strange as it may seem to the devout believer, the lace girl was no other than the medium herself en deshabille. The cabinet being pulled down simultaneously with the striking of the light, she had no place in which to retreat for shelter, and a few sympathizing women in the room gathered about her to shield her from unhallowed eyes, until her clething could be brought from a corner of the demolished cabinet and replaced upon her person.

sessed of the faintest glimmer of self-respect and decency such an exposure would prove a crushing blew; but we have no doubt that the gudgeons assembled about her last night to witness further materializations, and, unless restrained by fear of condign punishment, she will material-

THE TIMES simply rises to inquire what difference there is, morally speaking, between this confidence gan played in a dark room, or the gold-brick game perpetrated in a back alley! Both are frauds which the law ought to squelch without delay.

Long and Short Hauls-A Query.

Long and Short Hauls—A Query.

Los Angeles, April 22.—[To the Editor of The Thiks.] If the Pacific raliroad companies were pressed for their real reasons for their opposition to the long-and-short-haul clause of the Interstate Commerce Bill they would probably confess that it is to protect their local traffic; in other words, their short-haul business because that is their main dependence; and that there is no profit in their long-haul business, and that they would starve if they had to depend on it, and on their local traffic if they should be compelled, under the law, not to charge more in gross for the latter than for the former.

Now, whether they make the confession or not, they have much to say about the unprofitableness of their "through rates."

And yet, did they not for years pay a subsidy of $85,000 a month to the Pacific Mail Company to protect, not their local traffic at all, but their "through humpess" which

And yet, did they not for years pay a subsidy of $85,000 a month to the Pacific Mail Company to protect, not their local traffic at all, but their "through business," which would look as though there was some profit in it, and that it was worth paying a big price for? Moreover, did they not, like ruffans, bulldoze the merchants of this coast into shipping all their goods by rail, under penalties that were monstrous for their impudence?

If their long hauls were done at bare cost, or less, as they pretend, how could, they afford to pay a big sum to keep it? Their past acts show that their present professions are mere pretenses, and that their object is to make the fourth section odious, and get it repealed. VINDEX.

Our correspondent calls to mind a

Our correspondent calls to mind a fact which had well nigh fallen into the limbo of things forgotten upon North tried to make it out, is due earth. Sure enough, the railroad com-largely to his wisdom, coolness and panies used to pay that subsidy to backbone. into the hue and cry.

The point in which the failroad companies stick is that their business shall be brought under direct governmental control at all. If they are obliged to submit to regulation by States in their local traffic and by the General Government, where State authority falls short, local traffic and by the General Government where State authority falls short, they will be debarred many eccentricities of railroad generalship, such as freezing out smaller and weaker lines; perverting the natural channels of trade; building up some towns and cities and pulling down others to suit their selfish interests; pooling issues to extort more, than a reasonable compensation for services performed; making rebates to uphold monopolies, and so forth, to the full extent of railroad misrule. Many of the methods road misrule. Many of the meth hitherto pursued by such corporations, and especially those enjoying a monopoly in a particular section, have partaken more of the character of com-mercial freebooting than of the legitimate principles of trade and traffic. They deserve to class with stock jobbing cornering markets, watering stock, freezing out weak stockholders, lotteries, mock auctions and all that sort of irregular gambling and corporate crookedness which was tacitly allowed for a long time. until it grew into such a gigan-tic abuse that the law was obliged to step in and proscribe it. Under the development of our vast and complete system of commerce, practically without control from the highe authorities, rich men, grasping men, conscienceless men, have drifted back toward that aboriginal condition of society which some poet has ironically described as described as

That good old rule, that wholesome plan,

That he may take who has the power,

And he may keep who can.

It is proper that the Government should exercise a wholesome control over railroading, just as it does over all the other affairs of society. In no other way can the rights of the weaker be protected against the aggressions of the stronger. As we have previously said, the Government must control the railroads or the railroads will control the Government.

The time will come when we shall all wonder how the country managed to drift along as well as it did without an exercise of this proper authority.

THE newspapers of San Diego are in the throes of a printers' strike, brought about by the hiring or discharge of some individual, the "squaring" or non-"squaring" of the officers to union rules, or something of the sort. The Sun, which seems to have got its dander up" on the subject, says:

"dander up" on the subject, says:

There is an organization in the Eastern States known as the Printers' Protective Association. These printers are organized for their own mutual benefit, but, unlike the unreasonable Printer's Union, believe and concede that employers have some rights and privileges in the management of their own offices. They do not make it compulsory for an old and faithful employé to join their ranks or be kicked out to starve. It is a large and growing association in the East, and a dozen or more of these men are now en route for San Diego to take the places of men whose motto is rule or ruin.

THE San Francisco Examiner, under the leadership of its new young pro-prietor, is very enterprising and very breezy, but awfully trashy. Its Thurs-day morning's leading editorial, nearly a column in length, is devoted to the effect of the Interstate Commerce Law in precluding the Piute Indians from deadhead rides on the railroads. There is no satire hidden in the travesty, so pith or point, such stuff piled up by the column makes a reader weary unto death. There are two most excellent mend to young Mr. Hearst or the man "heavy" editorials for who does the him. They are:

The boy told his mother of the death of the canine and how it occurred, when Mrs. Murray, having her picions aroused by the information, inconspicions aroused by the information, in-vestigated the butter, condensed milk and coffee that happened to be on the table when Mrs. Benton came in to make peace, and, to her surprise, found that in each of the articles of food that were near the visitor during her stay there was enoughtrychnine to kill several large familie Mrs. Benton is now in jail on a charge of

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Little Light on the Tragic Affair at SACRAMENTO, April 21.—[By the Asso-ciated Press.] The mysterious assassina-tion of J. F. Klumpf in this city, last evening, has caused a great sensation here and in Folsom, where the deceased resided. It has developed today that a few minutes be-fore Klumpf was shot he was at the resi-dence of Frank Hess, on Eighth street. Hess was not at home, but his wife was, and she says that Klumpf merely asked for a young man named Miller, who was not in, and then took his departure. Hess was arrested today, but there appears to be nothing against him. He says that he was with Miller (who is also a Folsomite, and who came to the city with Klumpf) until after 9 o'clock, and did not hear of the murder until this morning. Miller departed for San Francisco on the early train. This is regarded as strange under the circumstances, and an officer will be sent after him tomorrow. man named Miller, who was not in, an

to a vote. When the call of the roll was half concluded, the Governor's private secretary appeared with the message, which was passed to Lieut-Gov. Jones, who occupied the chair. A Republican member took the floor and insisted on the roll being called for adjournment. The chair ruled him out of order, and a member denounced the ruling of the Lieutenant-Governor as revolutionary, and immense uproar ensued.

The Lieutenant-Governor finally read the message himself. When the reading finished, Mr. Vedder said that the action of the presiding officer was an outrage and a disgrace, and it was the duty of the people of the State of New York to impeach him.

The Lieutenant-Governor, before announcing the result of the vote on the motion to adjourn, sought to explain his action, but the Republicans refused to hear him and left the chamber.

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

Ruling by the President Against the Alaska Commercial Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—[By the Associated Press.] A dispatch received here from Washington by L. N. Handy & Son, owners of the schooner San Diego, which was recently seized in Bering Sea for alleged illegal seal-fishing, says: "We will undoubtedly settle the disputed question regarding the right of vessels to catch seals in Bering Sea." For many years the Alaska Commercial Company has hired the exclusive privilege from the Government to capture seals in the waters adjacent to the islands and mainland of Alaska. It gradually extended its claims until it claimed the islands and mainiand of America ually extended its claims until it claimed the exclusive right to fish in the entire Bering exclusive right to fish in the entire Bering nally extended its claims until it claimed the exclusive right to fish in the entire Bering Sea, which claim was recognized by the Government, and any vessel found seal-hunting in those waters was selzed and confiscated. Handy & Son claimed that the Government had no jurisdiction over this body of water beyond three miles from the shore, which is one of the international laws all nations are bound to respect. The matter has been constantly agitated in Washington since the time of Grant's first Presidential term, but up to the present time no relief has been afforded to outsiders.

Recently Mr. Handy brought suit in the Boston courts against the commander of a revenue cutter which seized his schooner, making the Government a co-defendent, and sent J. F. Evans, an attorney, east to conduct the suit and exert his influence with the President to alter the laws. Mr. Handy also wrote to President Cleveland, explaining to him the injustice which the present laws inflict on those who desire to engage in seal-hunting in these waters. Matters have been discussed at length at all of the Cablnet meetings held recently, and on Wednesday Mr. Handy received a telegram from his lawyer in Washington stating that the President has ruled that any vessel is entitled to capture seals one marine league from the shores of Alaska. Mr. Handy, who was interviewed, expressed himself as greatly pleased over the President's ruling, and stated that it was his intention to dispatch a sealing vessel to Bering Sea this season.

storm, which originated in Kansas, swept over the northeastern part of this country last night between 8 and 9 o'clock. There were four persons killed outright, and several others so dangerously wounded that they will probably die. The wind was preceded by a halistorm, which did considerable damage. Many of the halistones weighed from three to four ounces, and some of them measured nine inches in circumterence. They crashed through the roofs of dwellings and barns, leaving holes through which a man's arm would pass with ease. Considerably injury to stock is reported from the hall, but no persons were injured by it.

A great many reports have been received of minor damages, and the escapes of those whose homes are ruined are almost miraculous. At 2 o'clock this morning a strong wind blew over this city, but no damage was done aside from the overthrow of a few chimneys and small outbuildings. A heavy rain at that hour was attended by an interesting phenomenon in the northern part of the city. Balls of fire seemed to be falling at an angle of 45 degrees. They struck the ground and burst into myriads of fiery flakes, rebounded several hundred feet toward the east and died away. The exhibition continued for several minutes.

THE STORM ELSEWHERE.

OZARK (Mo.), April 22.—A heavy wind approached from several directions, and the currents met in this valley and passed up the canen east of town, about the head of which the funnel appearance of the cyclone was first seen. A track 300 yards wide was laid almost entirely bare. Timber and all sorts of improvements were blown in every direction. The residence of Jonathan Worthy, where the funnel first struck the ground, was blown forty feet and leveled. Mr. Worthy was badly hurt, but his family escaped by not being inside the house. At McCourts a church was completely destroyed. One dwelling was nearly leveled, but the members of the family were so caught between the timbers that nebody was hurt. James Morrison was severely bruised. E. T. Woodruff, John Alstott, Russell Nunn, John Miller and J. A. McCourts are the principal sufferers in this section. General damage was done to stock, outbuildings, fencing and blooming orchards outside the immediate track of the storm, while inside everything was nearly a total wreck.

Prescott was literally wiped out of existence. Not a single building was left standing to mark the site of a once prospering and thriving place. Reports are coming in from all over the country of damage by the terrible storm. It was a genuine cyclone, but came from the northwest, instead of the southwest, as is usual. Hall fell all over the country, some stones measuring thirteen inches in circumference.

with Whitelew Reid to Settle the Que Between Blaine and Sherman Just Field Becomes Hodest.

By Telegroph to The Tieses.
St. Louis, April 22.—[By the Associated Press.] A special from Washington to the St. Louis Republican gives the following rather interesting information. "President Cleveland neither wishes nor will accept a renomination. This will be startling ina renomination. This will be startling information to the country, setting aside the important question of a second term, now the subject of interested consideration in political circles everywhere. The correspondent of the Republican has the highest possible authority for the statement, how-ever, and it can be depended upon as strictly and entirely true. It comes from the President himself, who made a declara-tion to this effect on Wednesday to a prominent Democratic Senator from one of the tion to this effect on Wednesday to a prominent Democratic Senator from one of the western States who is on terms of special intimacy at the White House. The President spoke with so much deliberate earnestness and such studied emphasis that the Senator with whom he was taiking is certain that there is no reason to question his perfect and entire sincerity. His manner, no less than his words, indicated that the declaration was simply a firm resolution which has resulted from a careful consideration of all phases of the matter. The President said he had not given any intimation of his feelings to representatives of the press for the simple reasons that he felt that nothing he might say about not wishing, or being willing to take a second term, would be believed.

"I hardly expect anybody to believe it," he said, "exceptiony wife, but it is so, none the tess," Continuing, he added. "Everything I do, every appointment I make, they think it is to secure a reflection. On the contrary, I am counting the days that remain until my release from office, just as if I were a prisoner in confinement."

Apparently, to make it plain that he had taken no half-hearted resolutions, the President proceeded to speak of the exacting and laborious duties which fall to the incumbent of the Presidency are administered with the scrupulous and minute faithfulness he has brought to the position. No man could endure the strain of such labor, at once physical and mental, for a longer period than for four years without risk of perusurent injury to his health. For these reasons he could not think of a continuance of his term beyond four years. He has now half completed it. Nothing, he said to his Senatorial visitor, would persuade him to alter this resolution, which he had deliberately formed. He did not believe there were any obligations of public duty which could require him to forego his personal wishes.

The Senator, who has repeated this significant conversation to his friends, says could require him to forego as personal wishes.

The Senator, who has repeated this significant conversation to his friends, says that while the President was not talking for the purpose of getting his views about a reelection before the public, there was no intimation that he desired his words to be regarded as confidential. The Senator has spoken freely of the interview to personal friends without any injunction of secrecy, and it is not unlikely that this discussion of the matter will eventually provoke friends without any injunction of secrecy, and it is not unlikely that this discussion of the matter will eventually provoke some formal and public utterance by the President. The Senator is quite sure there was none of the coy strategy of the artful politician, who thinks by this device to appear as being sought by rather than seeking the office. In this disavowal of second-term ambition by President Cleveland, he is convinced that every word is meant for just what it implies, and that it will be wholly useless to pian the next campaign on a basis of the renomination of Cleveland. The President was specific and decided in saying that he could not be induced by any possible considerations to change his mind; that there was nothing in the way of argument which could be brought to bear to alter the resolution determined upon alike by every consideration of personal comfort and happiness and by the most conscientions regard for what could fairly be asked of him as a patriotic servant of the people.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Reid's Repudiation of Blaine as a Candidate Denied.

CINCINNATI, April 22.—[By the Associated Press.] When interviewed by an Associated Press reporter today, Richard Smith denied the truth of the report put lished in eastern papers that he had re-ceived a letter from Whitelaw Reid, in which the latter said that the Tribune had arrived at the conclusion to abandon Blaine for a nomination for the Presidency, and to support John Sherman. Smith said he had received no such letter, but admitted that received no such letter, but admitted that in conversation with Reid the latter said he would support Sherman with the greatest pleasure, if, when the time came, he thought him the best nominee. Smith said further, however, that when he started to leave Reid's office, the editor of the Tribune said. "Hold en, now; I want to say one thing more. I want to tell you further that if we united fully with you and with all your friends in an effort to nominate any of these men you named, and the convention should be held within a month, the whole lot of us, with all the power we could bring to bear could not prevent the nomination of Blaine on the first ballot by acclamation."

JUSTICE FIELD THEED OF POLITICS,
NEW YORK, April 22.—A Washington
special to the Herald says: "A California gentleman, who is a close personal and political friend of Justice Stephen W. Fleid, says that that gentleman is out of the Presidential race forever. He says Mr. Fleid would not consent to the use of his name in that connection, even if a solid delegation from California could be sent to the next Presidential convention in his favor. Upon his retirement from the Supreme Bench
Mr. Fleid will devote himself to certain literary work, which he has long had in contemplation, and which, to him, will be far more agreeable than the strife and bitterness of political life."

TOPOLOBAMPO.

TREATURER JOEN W. LOVEILS

BAS HIS SAY PULLY.

Me Extole Owen, slings the Praise of sinalox's Alleged Penastes, and sinalox's

all the franchises and concessions ... cessary.

Sixth—That, as Mr. Brock is perfectly well aware, Mr. Owen never claimed to own a foot of land at Topolobampo or anywhere else. That in all his statements and public writings, he distinctly stated the lands were held in trust, to be turned over to the Credit Foncier Company as fast as they could pay for them.

I am personally acquainted with the trustee who holds the lands from the owners, and who alone controls them, and know that the members of the Credit Foncier alone can occupy the lands, and he has given his consent to their doing so. I may also say in this connection that part have been paid for and the remainder will be as required.

Seventh is a deliberate falsehood. No sum of $500 has been paid to government officials in Mexico City or anywhere else.

Eighth—I can see no reason why Col. (?) Fitch should be believed in preference to opinion whether the ditch will cost $40,000 or $400,000. From my knowledge of both men, I prefer to believe Mr. Owen. I might say that this Col. (?) Fitch was simply an assistant of Mr. Owen in his preliminary surveys, and any statements made by him cannot be relied on, as for personal reasons he is antagonistic to the Credit Foncier Company.

Ninth is wholly false. Mr. Owen has not against Mr. Owen's positive orders that so many persons have gone to Topolobampo.

No one was more surprised than Mr. Owen himself when the first colonists reached there. He immediately telegraphed not to allow any more to go on, but in spite of this positive order Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Eaton, with their party, insisted on going, and Mr.
Owen is, therefore, certainly free from blame for any misfortunes they may have met with. I am quite certain Mr. Eaton will confirm this, and Hawkins dare not deny it.

blame for any misfortunes they may have met with. I am quite certain Mr. Eaton will confirm this, and Hawkins dare not deny it.

As Mr. Brock has no personal knowledge of the charges sixteenth and severtheenth, it is sufficient to say that he has been misinformed rather than he intentionally makes misrepresentations, though from the previous statements of his, I would be justified in putting the latter construction upon them.

In conclusion, Sir, I can say that I have a brother amongst the colonists at Topolobampo; that he informs me that such statements as are made by Mr. Brock, "that he has private information from 'the wrethed people now there which shows that in a few weeks famine will add its horrors to the pestilence that still walks at noonday," are wholly without foundation. My brother informs me there is no pestilence; that there were eleven cases of smallpox, of which four died and the others have recovered, and the disease is entirely stamped out. That the 410 people now there are perfectly healthy; that they have ample provisions; that there are numberless fish in the bay; turtles and oysters; game in profusion; that the boys can pick up-100 dozen eggs a day; that the elimate is delightful, and exterting progressing favorably and han ax-director who knows nothing, I would ask you to publish the inclosed letter from Dr. E. T. Schellhous, of California, who is one of the directors now on the ground, and I confidently leave the question as to whose veracity is most worthy of belief to your readers. Very respectfully, Lovella.

Topolobampo (Mesleo), March 2, 1886.

Mrs. Marie Howland—Dear Comrades.

TOPOLOBAMPO (Merkleo), March 2, 1886.

Mrs. Marie Howland—Dear Comrade: I will try to describe to you, in as few words as may be, our situation. When the party with Messrs. Eaton and Hawkins came we began to have trouble. They declared that we were all off the track, and not the Credit Foncier Company at all; but that the course we were pursuing would result in inevitable destruction. They furthermore declared that all the essential features of our enterprise were misrepresented, and that the resources of the country were wholly misrepresented; that the climate, soil, water, timber and other bounties of nature would forbid the successful establishment of a colony, such as we contemplated.

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

ESSAY NUMBER ONE.

THE BEAUTIFUL!

Midway between San Bernardino and Los Angeles, on the Los Angeles and San Bernardino Railroad, the great Santa Fe route, four miles northeast from the town of Pomona, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, close to the mouth of the picturesque San Antonio Canyon, is located the leading townsite of all the new country developed next to the foothills of the lofty Sierra Madre Mountains.

The name CLAREMONT is indicative of clear mountain air, clear mountain water, clear from malaria, frost, fogs, and most of the ills that flesh is heir to. The site was specially chosen before any of the adjoining places were dreamed of. We had the entire line to select from, for the building of the railroad was then a secret, known only to a few. This exquisite place was chosen:

road was then a secret, known only to a few. This exquisite place was chosen:

First—Because of the perfect altitude, which is 1200 feet above the sea.

Second—Because of the unsurpassable seenery of valley and mountain.

Third—Because of the unsurpassable seenery of valley and mountain.

Fourth—Because of the great natural park that covers miles of territory to the east—oak trees that an English lord would give $10,000 per acre to possess.

Sixth—Because of the great extent of fertile country that surrounds it, covered with countless orchards of apricot, orange, peach, pear, apple and the almost endless list of fruit and vineyards, illustrating perfection in cultivation.

Seventh—Because of the "roses" that not only "Bloom in the spring, tra la," but bloom all the year round. Roses that are not equaled in the world.

The lands around the town are held at reasonable figures. Let the croaker say "the maximum in prices has been reached." I say that within five years $2000 per acre will be the price of all good fruit land in Southern California. In Southern France and Northern Italy not an acre can be bought for a less sum. You know, and every one knows, that while this is called the "Italy of America," we surpass the example in climate, soil and peoples.

CLAHEMONT is simply a place for a HOME for people who, on a moderate salary in Los Angeles, long for a quiet country home amid the most charming surroundings; for people from the East who want a place for a home that possesses all the natural attractions that makes life worth living for. To all these we say that the beautiful residence lots in CLAHEMONT is only about one hour's ride from Los Angeles, on the new road, the people's line, the Santa F6 route) can be bought now for from $500 to $500. Next month they may be, and probably will be, $500 to $100 each. Our hotel is on the way. Schools, churches, stores, and MO SA. LOONS, are already arranged for. Buy now. Make money or a home, as you choose, Come to Founce and Salard passes.

Great Display to Close Tonight-Last Evening's Attractions - Ex-quisite Tableaux - The Bicycle Club's Drill, Etc.

The general feeling among the 5000 visitors was that last evening was the most interesting at the Flower Festival thus far. The foral display was as beautiful as ever, and the programme better. The crowd was enormous; and regret was expressed on every side that the overworked ladies in charge have been obliged to decide that the superb festival shall close tonight. There is not the least doubt that the strendance would remain large all next week. If the would remain large all next week, if the festival could be maintained so long, but the ladies are fairly worn out by their enormous labors, and must rest. This evening, therefore, will witness the close of the therefore, will witness the close of the Flower Festival of 1887—probably the most brilliant and manimoth floral display ever seen anywhere. It is hardly necessary to advise the public to attend. Every one will be there. Among the evening's attractions will be a parade and drill by Castle Guard Division No. 27, Knights of Pythias.

Last Night's Attractions.

The vast crowd which filled the Pavilion last night was delighted with the entertainment provided. Aside from the excellent band concert, which has been a feature of last night was delighted with the entertainment provided. Aside from the excellent band concert, which has been a feature of every evening's entertainment, there were some numbers of unusual interest. The filly tableaux were simply exquisite, and far ahead of any of their predecessors. When the curtain first went up the great audience gave a suppressed "Ah-h" of admiration. In the center of the stage, back, was a giant calla filly, whose snowy chalice enfolded the pretty form of MissHelen Widney, artistically posed. On either side, in long lines ranging diagonally to the front of the stage, were the young ladies in filly dresses, who have already been so much admired. The second tableau was similar in design, but the participants sang, "Consider the Lilles." Mrs. M. F. Tarbel dirilled the young ladies, and was assisted by Miss Helen Widney. The tableau represented the "Mortal Lily," and the principal characters were assumed by Mrs. C. H. Connell ("Angel"), Miss Lella Breed ("Death"), and Clarence Ferguson, Master Hovey, Miss Julia Pendell and a number of little snowdrops.

The Indies who sung were: Mrs. M. F. Tarbel, Misses Rose Osborne, Nettle Netteton, Marguerite Abbott, Genevieve Abbott, Nettle Shafner, Lizzle Oliver, Miss Olive, Florence Pendleton, Anna Pendleton, Eva Halnes, May Lockrow, Miss Myrick ("Prudie"), Miss Peek, Miss Davis ("Edna") Dors Dodson, Mary Selby, Belle Thomas and Laura Carter.

THE BICYCLE DRILL.

After the tableaux, the Los Angeles Bicycle Club sppeared on the scene. The members were dressed in their natty uniforms, and liberally decorated with posies as well. The following members were present: J. P. Percival, captain; E. D. M. Judson, C. H. Wedgewood, M. A. Baker, G. H. Frost, F. W. Field, J. F. Plank, "W. S. Wing, H. C. F. Smith, D. L. Burke, P. L. The latest novelty in comic descriptive music, commending with baritone representing donkeys braying in the distance, which resolves into a pretty comic melody, introducing donkeys' brays throughout; the melody increases in force until the reviewing point is reached, when the donkey strand selute is represented with cymbal and bass drum. After executing a fundango, the donkeys, highly pleased with their performance, jog off, whisking their cars with their tails, and their smiles of self-complacency are represented by the soule descending in counterpoint (J. An olive-leaf shield on the side of the booth has the legend, "Olive Leaf," in dainty letters of marigold petals, which attracted much attention. Inside the booth were some of the charming pupils of the college, rapidly selling off copies of their special edition, "The Olive Leaf." THE TIMES has already noted the fact that this excellent and creditable paper is regularly published by the young ladies of Prof. Hanna's flourishing college. The special edition was published and is sold for the benefit of the Flower Festival Society, and if the young ladies sell it as briskly today as they did yesterday, they will turn a handsome sum into the treasury. The edition is in twelve-page pamphlet shape, bound attractively in green, and, as it came from The Times-Minnon office, is of course typographic perfection. The young ladies who are doing so well in the field of journalism are as follows: Editors, Julia Crawford and Emma L. Hubbard; reporters, Bertie Clark, Zella Jones, Allie Ellis, Virginia Orr and Blanche Rives. west side of the hall, and consists of a next

The $80 was paid in on Wednesday for the top line of the register.

All the children who are to take part to-night must be promptly on hand.

Mrs. G. W. Wells presented the managers with some choice flowers yesterday.

The lemonade booth-has been remarkably successful, having already taken in nearly $200.

Among the new objects of Interest are a floral clock, eactus sponge, carious-looking Japanese picture made of fish scales, lovely illae in yellow setting-star.

The jee-cream booth has taken in $1900. Some of the alds have changed off with new ones, Louise and Rachel Adams and Katherine Feebles being among them.

The newsboys and bootblacks are requested by the laddes to present themselves at the doors at 2 o'clock, sharp, this afterneon. They will be adialitted free of charge.

As touight will be the last night, the ladies are very anxious to have as many in the procession as possible, and request all who intend taking part to be at the hall as early as possible.

A ride to Lamanda Park upon a fine day is a A ride to Lamanda Park upon a fine day is a pleasant excursion, and on alighting at the station we will find a carriage waiting to convey us to the beautiful mesa upon which are located the new town of Huntington and the famous Sierra Madre Villa. There are few towns that can boast equal advantages for a townsite. Next Monday surveyors, street-openers, graders and teams will be at work to build another Pasadena.

Lots will be placed on sale also next week at haif their appraised value, and many applications have already been made to secure them. A little above the town stands the Sierra Madre Villa Hotel, which has a reputation at home and in foreign lands second to none. There is orly one California and only one Sierra Madre Villa Hotel in California. These are places to see that will be of interest to all visitors.

To light a passing cigarette!

When hearts designed alone to make Such matches as from heaven we get, Are turned by this outrageous boy To matches for a cigarette!

THE SONG THE SIRENS SANG.

ig. J. Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.]
In sea-caves dark, and rocks where hides
The restless wind that haunts the sea,
Where murmuring waves and moanin
tides
Chant their unceasing nelody;
In meadows bright with fadeless spring,
Where dead men's bones the light defile
What were the songs they used to sing—
The sirens of this sunny isle?

Soft-breathed and tender, sweet and low, Across the waters dark and wild, The wanderer heard their numbers flow, And all his soul their charm beguiled; Swift through the breakers' snowy foam He drove his bark with panting breath, Forgetting wife and child and home, While sirens sang him to his death.

We know their songs—they had but one— Odysseus heard the fateful thing; And madness seized Laertes' son, Who heard "The Flowers that Bloom

Who heard The Proving:

Spring:

And still unchanged in air or word,
The sirens sing, with tireless breath,
The same old song Ulysses heard,
And with it still sing men to death.

HER BIG BREAST-PIN.

Dora, you're a pretty miss, One that I would love to kiss, But I can't. if I were to essay, would check me with a "nay," Or, "You shan't."

One would know you for a flirt, Seeing you adjust your skirt With a tug;

Though the "buglet's" chain is short, He is free—too free—to court; (Lucky knave!)

For his stamping-ground's your heart. Of all parts the very part That I crave.

Your sweet smiles are not for me; So I'm jealous when I see (O, dull pain!)

That obnoxious, captive bug, Rub his head against your jug-— U — lar vein.

If his "Bugness" knew my case He might offer me his place. And his mask.

Since you'll not grant me your hand, Let me, chained thus, ever stand On your basque.
